

The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) is an independent US Government agency responsible for providing national security intelligence to senior US policymakers.

The CIA offers exciting career opportunities and a dynamic environment. We're on the front of world-altering events — as they happen. So working here isn't just a job, it's a mindset and a lifestyle.

PERKS AND CULTURE

- Competitive compensation
- Tuition reimbursement and training
- Health coverage
- 401(k) plan with company match
- Travel
- Teamwork environment
- Inclusive work environment
- Top-of-the-line equipment

EXAMPLES OF INTERESTING PROJECTS

- Information Assurance Security Professional - Participate in the development and deployment of mission-critical systems in support of the Agency's cyber defense mission.
- Applications Developer - Analyze, develop and deploy innovative information/software systems and capabilities to enhance the CIA's capabilities to collect, produce and disseminate intelligence. Create unique state-of-the-art solutions to reduce information overload through innovative information exploitation, enhance intelligence production capabilities, expand internal and external collaboration services and evolve an expansive intelligence knowledge base.
- Data Scientist - Work with advanced hardware, software, and techniques to develop computational algorithms and statistical methods that find patterns and relationships in large volumes of data.

CURRENT OPPORTUNITIES:
WWW.CIA.GOV

Recruitment Center | Washington, D.C. 20505

