The graph shows the accuracy of Naive Bayes with respect to the size of the training set. As the size of the training set increases, the accuracy also increases, reaching a plateau at around 800 data points.